

JIM ELLISON

Jim is a long time resident of Brunswick, Georgia. He paints in oil, acrylics, watercolor, and pastel. He currently works primarily in oils. His subject matter encompasses landscape, local scenes of the beaches, marsh views, and local landmarks. He loves floral subjects, expressing this in garden scenes and still life paintings. His work is in collections throughout the United States.

He studied with Bill Hendrix, George Willams, and Jeanne Szabo. He has taken watercolor workshops with Claude Croney, Ray Ellis, Tony Couch, and Tony Van Hassalt.

Many of his works are in a bright palette. His current show, "Reflections in Oils", is composed of canvases in a variety of subject matter, two of which are semi-abstracts. The others are colorful realism.

He is currently a member of Georgia Coastal Artists, Glynn Art Association, Jekyll Island Art Association, and Southeast Pastel Association.
