

Louise Lindgren Hooper

Louise is a member of the Georgia Coastal Artists Guild. After moving to St. Simons Island, she began oil painting lessons with Jeanne Nelson Szabo in 2002. Her paintings have been accepted in several juried shows including the Coastal National and Virginia Highlands Art Festival. She has participated locally in workshops taught by Janet Powers, Louise Eaton, and Larry Gerber and in a French workshop taught by Connie Winters. Prior to her move Louise, who grew up in Buckhead Atlanta, lived in Dallas, Texas where she was a commercial real estate broker. She presently continues her involvement in real estate with ownership and management of hotel and restaurant properties. She attended Randolph-Macon Woman's College and received a BFA degree in Drawing and Painting from the University of Georgia in 1969.
