

About the Artist

Georgia Kellogg was born in Athens, Greece and moved to Chicago when she was 7. She's a graduate of College of DuPage and Triton College majoring in science and nursing. She moved to the southeast in the 1990's and started painting the natural beauty surrounding her. She has studied art since 2002 with several well-respected artists. She likes to work with a variety of mediums and subject matter. She currently lives in St. Simons Island, Georgia with her family and is active in her community.