

Jacquie's Lens

Photography has been a hobby for me that I take advantage of at every opportunity. Each photo becomes a new challenge to choose an interesting subject, try a new angle or different lighting. This hobby began in my flying days on a charter airline. I was nicknamed Miss Instamatic because I always had my camera with me taking pictures. Destinations like Hawaii, Germany and Greece provided scenery extraordinaire. While flying troops in and out of Viet Nam, I stepped onto the ramp and got a picture of a big black cloud of smoke from a bomb exploding. A pilot pulled me back into the aircraft. I literally go out on a limb to catch the image I want. The same is true now. In recent years I have progressed to the Canon digital 30 D. I can easily email, edit or print my photos. I sure don't want to miss a great shot with a sunset, deer, on the beach, wherever I am. I share an excitement with other photographers when I know I snapped a bee or the morning dew on a flower or an expression on a child's face, ice fog on a pine needle in the dead of winter. My favorite lens is the Macro that I use for closeups of flowers. I drink in the beauty and shut out the rest of the world. My eyes focus on the petals, panels of sunlight, its radiant colors and gentle movement in the breeze, the stillness except for a dog barking on the horizon. My photos have been shown on t.v. in Michigan, published in a local newsletter, Interlude Magazine, now Tri Cities Magazine serving Bay City, Saginaw, and Midland, Michigan.

Heres hoping you enjoy my digital adventures.
