

Preston Saunders Biography

In 1992 Preston Saunders graduated from Shorter College in Rome Ga, and in 1998 from the School for American Crafts, Rochester Institute of Technology with an MFA in ceramics and a minor in metals. Upon graduating he was offered the Ohi Scholarship which allowed him the unique opportunity to travel to Kanazawa Japan and work along side a Japanese family in producing traditional ceramic tea ware. In 2001 Preston was offered a position to become an exchange ceramic professor at the Seoul National University of technology in Seoul Korea. While teaching in Korea, he actively participated in several International ceramic expositions and was involved in coordinating the International Raku Symposium Korea 2001 in Daegu, Korea. Currently, Preston spends 8 months of the year residing in Massachusetts teaching at Bridgewater State College teaches and the remainder of the as a local resident of St, Simons Island.