Judi Strickland holds a master's degree from Brenau University in Special Education and has enjoyed working in various school settings, organizations and private institutions with special needs children. For the past three years she has received and implemented grants to work with Safe Harbor kids in the arts at Glynn Arts Association.

In Judi's busy decorating schedule, between she and her husband's business, Island Design and Renovation; she has been taking art lessons for many years and is currently taking classes from artist, Louise Eaton. Judi's visits to Europe with her spouse, has given her many opportunities to explore the arts and attend classes she so dearly treasures.

Her whimsical style keeps the viewer of her art endearingly entertained.
